Attending Tuesday Night Joan of Arc Mass with friends definitely looks a little different these days, but these students proved it can still be done! @catherinenilsen and some Marquette friends came together online for last week's Tuesday night Mass! "We usually went to Tuesday Night Masses and one friend thought it would be fun to Zoom and watch it all together," she said. | Tonight's 10 p.m. CST Mass will be streamed here on @mucampusmin Instagram Live and the Mission at Marquette Facebook page. All are welcome! Tune in on your own or share it with some friends. Either way, you will be celebrating Mass in community. #WeAreMarquette #AMDG #MarquetteMass #MarquetteCommunity

I'd be in one of three places

1. Joan of Arc Chapel
2. The Campus Ministry Office
3. The Systems Lab on the 3rd floor of Cudahy where I would probably be up all night working on some program for class

Marquette professor emeritus of psychology researches what makes life fulfilling and teaches a course on the psychology of death and dying.

He finds that when we come face to face with the question of our mortality, it is in relationships that we find strength.

Juliette Hackett...

Hello! Wondering if Marquette might have some sort of yard sign available to order for our graduating seniors? We have them for our High School graduates. Maybe hasn't been done before but with our seniors at home it would be nice to recognize them this way. Thank you, Juliette Annabel's mom:)
